Spectrum to Partner with People Working Cooperatively June 1
Volunteers to Assist with Critical Home Repairs and Accessibility Modifications

Cincinnati, OH (May 28, 2019) – Spectrum will partner with People Working Cooperatively (PWC) on Saturday, June 1, as part of the company's philanthropic initiative, Spectrum Housing Assist. Spectrum has set a goal to improve 50,000 homes across the U.S. by 2020 by partnering with nonprofit organizations, like PWC, and engaging their employees and community volunteers.

"At Spectrum, our technicians serve thousands of customers in their homes every day, and through Spectrum Housing Assist, we can serve the community by helping make our neighbors' homes safer and healthier," said Marc James, VP, Customer Service, Residential Billing Call Centers, at Spectrum. "All of our area employees are happy to join the talented PWC team to make a long-lasting impact in our community."

Since its inception, Spectrum Housing Assist has helped improved more than 30,400 homes nationwide, with the help of more than 7,300 total volunteers, contributing more than 41,000 total volunteer hours.

On June 1st, Spectrum volunteers will team up with PWC staff to complete several home repair projects for two homeowners in Carthage.

"Volunteerism is critical to our mission and the well-being of our clients," said Jock Pitts, president and CEO of People Working Cooperatively. "We are thankful for Spectrum's continued partnership and for assisting us in meeting home repair and service needs of low-income seniors, people with disabilities and veterans throughout the region."
