Who are PWC’s clients?
Our clients come from all walks of life. Young families, single parents, people who have disabilities, grandparents raising their grandchildren - all are some of the homeowners we have helped with our Modifications for Mobility program.

Who qualifies?
Clients qualify depending on their income level, where they live, and what type of services they need. Home modifications are costly, and traditional funding sources often don’t meet the true needs of the clients.

The typical PWC client earns under $14,000 a year, often juggling medical bills, medications and other daily living expenses to make ends meet... with little left for home repairs and modifications.

“Before this ramp, I felt trapped in my own home... PWC gave me back my independence.”
-Mr. Hammons

“My husband literally had to crawl up and down the stairs before PWC installed his chair lift. He never wanted to leave his room - it was so degrading... thank God for PWC and the help provided to us. There were no other solutions.”
-Mrs. Dawson

Founded in 1975, PWC provides critical home repairs and services to very low-income elderly and disabled homeowners. One of our programs is called Modifications for Mobility, and specifically targets complicated home modification projects that are typically too expensive for most low-income, disabled homeowners.

Modifications help some of our most vulnerable clients live safely in their homes and assist with their mobility and independence. Some of the modifications we can provide include:

- handicapped-accessible ramps
- grab bars
- bathroom modifications
- kitchen modifications
- other repairs and modifications as needed

You can be an important part of helping your most vulnerable neighbors by contributing to the Modifications for Mobility Program. Home modifications are expensive, often $10,000 or more for a ramp, or kitchen or bath modifications. With over 32 years of experience, our skilled professionals are able to maximize your donations by matching them with local funders. We minimize overhead and labor costs by using trained volunteers whenever possible.

“Thanks to you, my husband has his life back. It’s amazing how simple things - like having the ability to go outside, can mean so much.” - Mrs. McClurg

I thank God for PWC. I wish I could get out of my chair and hug everyone of the volunteers.

- Mrs. Harris
